Precision Reading
with Dr. Rick Freeze
October 23, 2009 from 9:00 a.m. – 3:30 p.m.

WHO SHOULD ATTEND: Grades 1-12 Literacy / Language Arts Teachers, Resource Teachers, School Leaders, Literacy Consultants and Educational Assistants

ABOUT THIS LEARNING OPPORTUNITY:
Precision Reading is a powerful new research-based method of helping low achieving, disabled, reluctant and resistant readers recover to grade level in reading fluency, word recognition and comprehension, and passage comprehension. In studies at research schools, students gained 1.5 to 2 grade levels in fluency, word knowledge, and passage comprehension in 18 to 26 weeks of daily Precision Reading for five minutes each school day. More importantly, students’ attitudes towards reading changed and their relationships with their teachers improved.

Educators, para-educators, parents and students like Precision Reading because it is effective and inexpensive; teachers find it practical and rewarding; easy to implement, takes only 5 minutes a day; works at all grade levels across the curriculum; students’ fluency, word knowledge and passage comprehension improve dramatically; uses grade level classroom reading materials on curriculum topics; works with reluctant readers, low achievers, at-risk students and students with disabilities; can be used in English, French, French Immersion, ESL and with adults; and more importantly students like it.

Precision Reading: Instructors’ Handbook and Instructors’ Sourcebook are available for sale on site at a reduced rate of $100.00. Please visit http://precisionreading.com/ for more information.
